

DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTING AND INFORMATICS

Name of Staff: Mr. James Ndungu Njuguna

Designation: Senior Technologist1

Laikipia University: School of Science and Applied Technology

Email: jnjuguna@laikipia.ac.ke

Educational Background:

- Masters in IT, Kabarak University, Kenya, On-going
- Bachelors in Computer Science, Second class upper division, Laikipia University, Kenya, (Year)
- Higher National Diploma (HND) in Electrical and Electronics Engineering (Telecommunication Option), Pass, Kenya Polytechnic, 1999-2001.
- Diploma in Electrical and Electronics Engineering (Telecommunication Option), Distinction, Kenya Institute of mass communication (KIMC), 1988-1990.
- Cisco Computer Network Associate (CCNA 1-4) Kabarak University, 2013
- Member of Institution of Engineering Technologists and Technician of Kenya (Reg. Certificate NO: 441)

Brief Auto-biography

James Njuguna is a Senior Technologist 1 at Laikipia University. He is in-charge of Physics lab, Micro-teaching lab and Media studio where he conducts practical classes for both undergraduate and postgraduate students. James is in-charge of all audio visual equipment in the university. James joined Laikipia University on 15th October 2012 from media industry where he worked for nearly two decades. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in Information Technology at Kabarak University and has a diploma in telecommunication engineering from Kenya Institute of Mass Communication, A Higher Diploma in telecommunication engineering from Kenya Polytechnic and a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science from Laikipia University. James is a Member of Institution of Engineering Technologists and Technician of Kenya (Reg. Certificate NO: 441)

Research Interest

- Machine learning